Opening a Sukanya Samriddhi Yojana (SSY) account for your daughter just got easier with an app now. Punjab National Bank (PNB) has introduced a new facility on its mobile banking app, PNB ONE.

The app will allow existing customers to open SSY accounts online without visiting a branch. This move not only simplifies access to the popular government-backed savings scheme for the girl child but also marks a major leap in PNB's digital banking journey, promoting both financial inclusion and women empowerment, the bank said in a statement on July 3.

The new facility enables existing PNB customers to open SSY accounts for their girl children anytime, anywhere, without the need to visit bank branches. This digital initiative represents PNB's commitment towards leveraging technology for social good and making government-backed savings schemes more accessible to families across the country.
